In Giving Interview

In celebration of his seventy-fourth birthday anniversary, which course this week. Thomas A Edison, wanter wizard, as-nounces through the correspond-ent of this newspaper his amazing theory that communication between the living and the dead is a mechanical possibility.

The accompanying interciew was obtained under remarkable circumstances. Mr. Edison was located at his laboratory lie was so busily engaged that he feit he could not give the correspondent the time necessary to an extended discussion. With typical in genuity he solved the problem by

The Charges Filed.

The report of the investigating committee dealing entirely with private business transactions of Lieutenant Governor Trapp in connection with his dealings in bonds, made charges in substance as follows:

That he filed a claim for $52,-424.80 against Seminole county on September I, 1919, made affidavit in superior court of the claim, and received judgment in district court at Wewoka, all on the same day when the county was not indebted to him for any sum and when he was not the holder of any valid claim against the county.

That on October 5, 1920, he instituted other sections and funded purported judgments against Seminole county in the sum of $106,500 and accounted for only about $21,000 and that he converted the difference, amounting to about $15,000, to his amounting to about $15,000, to his own use.

That he conspired with the then county attorney and county commissioners of Seminole county to present fraudulent claims and set judgments against the county when the county was in no way indebted to him.

Conspiracy With Bean Compiracy With Bean,
That he conspired with G. E. Bean, then county treasurer of Seminole county, who is now a fugitive charged with embezziement to defraud the county. The method of the alleged fraud was that Trapp deposited $51.109.50 in the First National bank of Guthrie, in liquidation of a funding bond issue of $106.560, and that none of the money ever was recitized to Seminole county and that none of the judgments ever were marked "paid and satisfied."
